

The campaign probes five points on one deployed pipeline rather than five unrelated prompts. Each finding is named for the boundary it crosses, and the dashed line marks the separation the paper holds throughout: what the model emitted is evidence, what a host would then do is not.